Johnny Correia, designated as premier somersault rider of all time, will make his appearance in Marion on Saturday, July 14, as an equestrian feature of John Robinson's circus. Correia turns one somersault after another on a horse's back. He gets the other performers one better by somersaulting from one steed to another.

Correia is but one of the great riders with John Robinson's circus. The Riding Rudynots from Austria are also noted equestrians, and Walter Gulek and Company from Holland are another European troupe. Practically every circus offers one riding act, but John Robinson believes in volume as well as quality and keeps all three rings going simultaneously.

Columbus, July 11.—The Columbus assembly plant of the Ford Motor Company today resumed operations after being closed for more than 13 months. J. L. Shain, assistant manager, announced the employment of 75 men, all of whom were put to work today.

The output of the plant for the first few weeks will be only a few cars a day. Later as all departments of the plant are opened, 250 more men will be employed and the output increased to 50 cars a day. The same office force of 18 persons will be retained.

When the employment office opened yesterday more than 800 men were on line. Of these only about 20 per cent qualified in experience and physical examinations. Preference is given to former employees, Shain said.

LEAGUE LEADERS WIN CONTESTS IN S. S. LOOP NO. 1

Presbyterians Give St. Mary's Scare, Lose 2 to 1 in Close Fray; Calvary Scores 11 Runs in Seventh To Defeat Trinity, 13-1

STANDING
S. S. League No.	W.	L.

St. Mary's	6	3
Christians	4	4

Trinity	5	5
Presbyterians	2	6

Three leading teams in Sunday School league No. 1 drew farther away from the pack in games played last night in which the race between Calvary, Epworth Seniors and St. Mary's continued at the same pace.

Calvary continued to lead all other teams in the loop by defeating Trinity, 13 to 1. Until the last inning the score stood at 2 to 1 when Calvary scored 11 runs.

Epworth Seniors are holding a big league in second place. Last night they defeated Christians 12 to 7.

Seven runs scored in the third inning spoiled Christians' chances of stepping up a notch in the league standings. Epworth was trailing, 5 to 4 when the seven-run rally put the contest on ice.

The closest game of last night's schedule found the Presbyterians making a strong bid to win their first contest of the season. It so happens, however, that the St. Mary's crew managed to score two runs in the last of the sixth and won the game 2 to 1. This probably was the best game that the tall end nine has played this season.

The runs, hits and errors column in the scorebook were well filled out last night when Epworth and Wesley clashed at Central Junior. Making 12 hits good for 15 runs, Epworth won their second place game of the season by a 15 to 11 score. Wesley made 12 errors while Epworth showed up good with seven misplays.

Tonight three postponed games in Sunday School League No. 2 will be played.

AMERICA'S OLYMPIC HOPES SET SAIL FOR AMSTERDAM GAMES

Newest Army of Expedition Aboard Steamship President Roosevelt

BY DAVID J. WALSH

New York, July 11.—America's newest army of expedition will set sail at noon today on the steamship President Roosevelt, bound for Amsterdam.

The American Olympic team, hand-picked flower of a nation's athletic life, is the expeditionary force that is sailing this time.

They will arrive in Amsterdam, pitch their camp on shipboard in the harbor and there, with training and diet and healthful rest, make ready for the start of the great international meeting on July 29. Few American teams have been better prepared for the olympics.

Track Stars Good

The team looks like one that will not have to depend on the field events to bring it victory as was the case in 1924 at Paris. Indeed, the present squad may even lack some of the former's balance in the field, but, if it does, its greater strength on the track should more than overcome this factor. It is an excellent bet that this team will win more than one "hot" race, the inevitable indictment lodged against America's victory in 1924.

Our sprinters, headed by the great Wykoff, Paddock and Borash, are second to none; we have two relay teams that figure to be faster than the 1924 squads and both of these were good enough to win in record time, Bartoli, Snider, Phillips and Thernay are at least equal of the 400-meter men at Paris, while the presence of Hahn in the 800 and 1,000-meter races means that America has a better chance to win these events than at any time since the heyday of Sheppard and Meredith.

Show Patters Better

The triple-jump field is no better and no worse than it was at Paris; the shot putters are definitely better, and, it might be added so are the foreign competitors, however, we lack a tool in the hammer throw, having only four average men. The javelin men are like the shot putters—better but likely to fare with a similar improvement all around.

Speaking of the latter, we are not so good in the decathlon. This is due to two reasons. First, the injury to Felt Elkins, probably the best in the world, Second, the misunderstanding that prompted Tony Pawanski to appear in hardly his best condition for the final trials. However, the discus entry, ended by Clarence House, Olympic champion, probably is as strong as it was in the last games.

And there you have the team. It is an unusually good team and, at face value, must be figured to dispel the illusion that America wins its Olympic titles by man power rather than individual brilliance. However, one merely can wait to see what the ocean trip and the climate will do to the bright, sleek Polish this team now possesses. Even the most dazzling brilliance has been known to tarnish under these circumstances.

With the card completed for Marion's next outdoor boxing time, the fans are waiting time until "the battle of the year" is pulled out as the main act of the Eagles' show Monday night.

Martin Maxon, bantam as a sparring partner of Johnny Risko of Cleveland, will be back again in the eight-round main go with Ted Janita of Columbus.

These two boys fought an eight-round draw here at the last show. Both are fast bantam weights with the Clevelanders especially good in slugging at long range. Janita managed to work into a draw by fighting close.

Benny Cohen, Columbus, will be seen in the semi-final of eight rounds against North Smith of Newark. Both of these boys are plenty keen, entering the ring at 145 pounds.

Two near-heavyweights will be thrown into the ring in the six-round preliminary when Frankie O'Neill of

IS CANADIAN

Felt Elkins To Compete for Dominion in Olympic Games

NEW YORK, July 11.—Felt Elkins, Nebraska Indian, and all-around athlete, has discovered that he is a Canadian, if he cares to be, and as a result will compete for the Dominion in the Olympic games at Amsterdam.

Elkins tore a muscle in the trials for the U. S. Olympic team and was not selected to sail with the team today. His two years' army service with Canada, however, made him eligible to sport the Maple Leaf and he will compete against his old friends at Amsterdam.

Our sprinters, headed by the great Wykoff, Paddock and Borash, are second to none; we have two relay teams that figure to be faster than the 1924 squads and both of these were good enough to win in record time, Bartoli, Snider, Phillips and Thernay are at least equal of the 400-meter men at Paris, while the presence of Hahn in the 800 and 1,000-meter races means that America has a better chance to win these events than at any time since the heyday of Sheppard and Meredith.

Show Patters Better

The triple-jump field is no better and no worse than it was at Paris; the shot putters are definitely better, and, it might be added so are the foreign competitors, however, we lack a tool in the hammer throw, having only four average men. The javelin men are like the shot putters—better but likely to fare with a similar improvement all around.

Speaking of the latter, we are not so good in the decathlon. This is due to two reasons. First, the injury to Felt Elkins, probably the best in the world,

Second, the misunderstanding that prompted Tony Pawanski to appear in hardly his best condition for the final trials. However, the discus entry, ended by Clarence House, Olympic champion, probably is as strong as it was in the last games.

July 11—Industrial stocks declined to a lower level of reaction as the result of persistent losses based on the prospect of a money market and higher rates in a normally "easy" market. The Chicago reserve fund was up with its 5 per cent rate for the first time since July 1, and Wall st. was inclined to continue action in New York

as a result of bank centers.

New York banks called in a considerable sum of funds from the gold market, and the call loan rate was up 6 per cent around the period. Bankers' acceptances were up at the principal centers indicating the amount of the cash grade of commerce.

The decline in British sterling was due to large transfers of British funds for buying purposes and this was also relatively tight. American stocks showed no sharp reduction and were held for finished steel, according to the Iron Age's weekly surveyed markets. June production was the largest for that month in the last leading manufacturers and the steel output of the country will be well maintained. The more noteworthy follows six months of recession, a decline in strength and according to General Motors was the outward sign of the market. Starting at 5 1/2 pounds lower than at the end of June, this stock received the same support as the lost ground.

Motor cars credit the big improvement with profits well above normal rates, with a new stock decline of 50 per cent sight.

LOANS UP TO $500

After all, man may have the last word if he says: "All right, I'll buy the blamed thing." And there isn't any reason why he shouldn't, but if it's anything that will add a bit of comfort or pleasure in the family, life is short and it might just as well be sweet.

Of course there's money to consider, but don't consider too long. Get in touch with The City Loan when you lack the necessary funds and we for yourself how easy it is to get a loan that will serve so many purposes and prove to be a real benefit to your funds.

GOOD automobile is built to stand years of use; but the average first owner trades it in after only two years.

This means that there are many thousands of miles of unused transportation which may be bought at a low price and enjoyed by the second owner.

While not all the cars that are now being traded-in are relatively new, among them you will find opportunities in cars whose intrinsic value is greater than their selling price — a fact which millions of families have already discovered.

Because of the great volume of new cars sold by General Motors dealers, their stocks of cars taken in trade offer a wide range of used car values. And the GMAC Plan of payments is available for the purchase of used as well as new cars.

Reading of Confession Is Dramatic Episode in Trial

ONE of the dramatic moments in the Henry Koon murder trial came yesterday afternoon when Police Captain Ira Shrock was called to witness stand and read the confession made by Henry Koon.

The confession was written in Koon's handwriting and bore his signature. It was witnessed by Captain J. W. Thompson, Lt. F. R. Cook and R. J. Therriault.

The confession follows:

I confess, know that this evidence can be used either for or against me. I went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koon, on the Harvey Rd with intention of getting information, finding his confessor. I entered the house, which was not locked, barred or nailed, saw no screen being hooked. After unhooking the hook on the screen I entered the house by way of the screen. I searched the house and in one of the upstairs rooms I found two or three rings, and was finishing my search, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koon, en-

Koon Case Expected To Go To Jury Late This Afternoon

opening of the afternoon session Prosecuting Attorney Wiedemann will make the final argument before the case goes to the jury.

The state won a major point this morning when Judge Seaford overruled a motion of Attorney Johnson that the second count in the indictment should be withdrawn from the jury. The jury was withdrawn from the courtroom while arguments on the motion were being made.

The second count in the indictment charged Koon with "murder while attempting to commit and committing a robbery." It was Attorney Johnson's contention that Koon's act in entering the house was not for the purpose of robbery but that it was house breaking.

Overruled Motion

In arguing against the motion Prosecutor Wiedemann pointed out that his intention could be judged only by his subsequent acts. He introduced a decision of the state supreme court which he said, sustained the charge of robbery.

In overruling the motion Judge Seaford confirmed the argument by the prosecutor.

The trial opened this morning with the introduction of Attorney Johnson's motion. Defense witnesses were called immediately afterward.

Omega Saunders

Omega Saunders, of Marion, a sister of Koon was the first to be placed on the stand. Her testimony was of little importance. She said that she last saw Koon before his arrest on the morning of May 28 when she left for Athens county to visit her father.

Mrs. Saunders is the only relative of Koon to appear at the trial.

Miss Mary Lawrence, cashier and bookkeeper of the Hardin Publishing Co., and Miss Janet Trott, an employee of the classified advertising department of The Marion Star, were called to the stand to testify that Koon had been at the Star office on the morning of May 29 inquiring about a classified advertisement for a farm hand.

Was Former Salesman

Kendall Barnes testified that he had recently worked with Koon at the Hulman Chevrolet Co., where Koon, then known as Francis, was a salesman.

Koon took the stand in his own defense but his testimony only confirmed that of the prosecution. He denied none of the charges but insisted that when the fight occurred he was attempting to leave the house and that Mr. Fow was the aggressor in the fight.

He said that he had gone to the Fow home in search of information concerning the classified advertisement he had seen in The Marion Star. Finding the house vacant he entered by way of the kitchen door. After unhooking the door he was about to leave, he said, when he saw Mrs. Fow pass a window on her way to the front door. Knowing that he could not escape in that direction and seeing Mr. Fow near the rear door he fled to the cellar where he threw away a number of articles he had picked up on his trip through the house. He also picked up the stone with which he struck Mr. Fow.

In the cross examination Koon was unable to say why he carried the stone from the cellar.

At present there is little evidence or testimony favorable to Koon. What Attorney Johnson will be able to do with the jury in his argument remains to be seen.

The testimony of Mrs. Fow and Police Captain Ira Shrock were the two high spots in the trial yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Fow identified Koon as the man who attacked her and Mr. Fow in their home on May 29. Captain Shrock read the confession made by Koon to police officers on the night of May 29.

Mrs. Fow told in detail how she returned home after decorating graves of relatives in the morning and found the house ransacked. In a voice tremor with sobs she told of the fight between her husband and Koon.

Several exhibits bearing blood stains, including a scarf, a table cloth and stones with which Mr. Fow was struck, were displayed before the witness. She identified each one.

Identifies Blood Spots

Silence settled over the court room as the articles were displayed.

"What are those spots?" Prosecutor Wiedemann asked.

"Those are spots of my husband's blood," was the answer.

Mrs. Fow was on the stand approximately an hour for both the examination by the prosecutor and the cross examination by the defense attorney.

Thirteen witnesses were placed on the stand by the state's attorneys, Wiedemann and Patton.

Mrs. Olive Moshay, a neighbor of the Fow family, told of the telephone conversation with Mr. Fow following the discovery that someone had been in the house.

George Bird, a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Fow, told of receiving a call that Mr. and Mrs. Fow had been beat up and robbed. He immediately drove to the Fow residence with his wife and daughter, he said, and shortly after began a search for the assailant. He first saw Koon, he said, near the Marion county fairground. Accompanied by Ray Harvey, who also testified, he drove to Marion where they found Patrolman Bert Tomson. The three men returned to the vicinity of the fairground where they found Koon. The prisoner offered no opposition to arrest, according to the testimony.

Find Stone

Officer Yostes testified that when he searched Koon he found two rolls of bills totaling more than $100, and a ring which Mrs. Fow identified as one taken from her deceased divisor.

Dr. E. L. Brady and Dr. J. H. Scott, who examined Mr. and Mrs. Fow, corroborated the testimony of the Fows.

No matter how the Nicaraguan election may result, with a $1,000,000 surplus in the treasury, what possible chance is there for peace down there?

Thieves stole two telephone coin boxes from the walls of a Chicago police station. Is there no such quality of gratitude left in the criminal world?

What's this? The world's largest airship, "Count Zeppelin," christened at Friedrichshafen with liquid air instead of champagne! Germany certainly has changed!

The loss as the result of the robbery of the Leviathan mall has dwindled from anywhere from $500,000 to $1,000,000 down to $10,000. Somebody must either have been terribly exulted or a mighty poor guesser.

Telegraphic communication was disrupted throughout Canada Saturday night and all day Sunday by the Aurora Borealis, which was witnessed locally by thousands. Even as late as Monday afternoon neither the Canadian Pacific railway nor the Canadian National was able to get messages through. Here's another force of nature of which we have long known, but of which we know but little.

A four-year-old St. Louis boy celebrated the Fourth by eating gunpowder pistol caps and popped them off by eating green apples, with the result that the casualties of the day have gone up to 206.

Figures given out in Washington show that the average American has ninety-six cents less than he had last year, but yet has $8.50 more than he had in 1914, the present per capita wealth being $46.82. Now a little computation on the purchasing power of the dollar in 1914 and today will show us whether we have been going back or coming on.

A new air endurance record has been established, two German fliers having kept to the air for sixty-five hours and twenty-six minutes. Air records may well be described as marks made to be quickly broken.

Another attempt by Captain Courtney to hop off on his proposed transatlantic flight has ended in failure. Let's see. Has there yet been a case where an aviator has made a start on a transatlantic flight and been forced to return in which he subsequently made a successful crossing?

George Walord claims that "from seventy to eighty per cent. of all physical ailments are due to wrong thinking or melancholic inclinations." If you don't believe that's something in it, read descriptions of a few diseases and be convinced.

Six arrests have been made in connection with the disappearance of 100,000 gallons of whisky from a New York City warehouse in which the liquor was stored by prohibition officials. If the rum-runners and bootleggers aren't grateful to the dry law enforcement officers who accumulate liquor in warehouses for them, it goes to show that they are utterly lost to the spirit of gratitude.

Addressing the sixth annual commonwealth conference in Iowa City, right in the heart of the corn belt, a speaker thanked President Coolidge for vetoing the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, holding the theory of McNary-Haugen akin to greenbackism and the bimetallism of other days and described it as the product of unscrupulous politicians looking for farm votes. "You can't fool all the people all the time."

Animal Instinct or Intelligence? That Captain Earl Davenport, a seaman of Elizabeth, New Jersey, did not suffer for lack of surgical attention, following an accident on his motor boat, and was speedily conveyed to a hospital in his home city was due to the intelligence of his dog, a white collie.

Davenport was driving his boat fairly close to the shore when the motor exploded, breaking one of his legs and inflicting other injuries and hurling him into the water. He managed to reach the shore, but was unable to proceed any further. As he knew that the nearest house was a mile away and he was in an un frequented spot, he thought he would have to go through the night without assistance. To add to his worry, his dog, which had followed him into the water, had left him, but he did not worry long, for soon he heard his dog barking and approaching nearer and nearer.

A short time after, the occupant of the house mentioned told Davenport that he had been awakened by the barking of a dog which was scratching at his door. He got up and dressed, and followed the dog, which, barking furiously all the way, led him to Davenport.

Well, what was it, animal instinct or intelligence on the part of Laddie, the collie? We call it intelligence.

Advertising on Highways.

State Highway Director Harry J. Kirk's order directing the removal of all political advertisements within the limits of state highways should please just about everybody with the possible exception of the candidates who go in for that kind of publicity and the job printers who turn it out.

The state director calls attention to the law against the putting of advertisements on state roads, and announces that it will be rigidly enforced in connection with posters promoting political candidates, regardless of the persons or parties using them.

It may be that some votes are made by means of posters along highways, but it's just as probable that more votes are lost thereby than are made. It in no way improves the appearance of a highway when likenesses of candidates appear on almost every tree, pole or post along it. Motorists are beginning to appreciate the cleanliness and beauty of the highways and are becoming more and more inclined to resent their use for advertising purposes. Posters on every object to which they may possibly be attached not only disfigure the highway when they are thus exposed, but also litter it up when they become weather worn and fall off.

And what is true in connection with highways through rural districts is likewise true of streets and avenues in municipalities. There is utterly no reason why they should be blottedched with cards, posters and bills. It would be well were city and village authorities to follow the lead of those of the state and taboo the card and poster abuse along all public streets and thoroughfares.

Two Portsmouth young women have been sentenced up in Sandusky to the Marysville reformatory for from ten to twenty-five years each for holding up and robbing a Toledo motorist. Well, the women folks simply would have this equality-of-the-sexes business.

The Hot Weather.

Men and women and children here in recent days have beenmoaned the excessive heat. Every one has that wilted look, and it actually is extreme discomfort to stir about.

Temperatures soar during the day, reaching added heights. The sun rises in the morning and sleep is driven off. Rooms are so hot in the evening that sleep is impossible. Sun-strokes become more and more common.

But while it is uncomfortable on humans, this hot spell, remember that it is great corn-growing weather—that the sun is needed to make the vegetables grow, to ripen the fruit and while nature may seem to be going to extreme, there will be a break some time, and it will be all the more appreciated.

Unnecessary exercise should be taboo in excessive weather like that of the last few days. One also should exercise car about one's food. Eat plenty of vegetables and fruits. Don't drink ice water, or other cold drinks, to excess. Frequent bathing is a wonderful anti-heat remedy.

And don't forget that when the temperature was below zero last winter, all of us were wishing for summer.

Prohibition Commissioner Doran has organized a special squad to investigate the actions of other agents of dry law enforcement. What's the department up to, anyway? Is it seeking to construct an endless chain?

A great barn completed last Friday on the farm of an Iowa man near Duglione to replace one destroyed by fire, was destroyed the day following by a tornado, the application for the insurance and the claim for loss being received by the Des Moines office of the insurance company the same day. Were we that man, we would be inclined to suspect that the elements had a grudge against us.

Chamberlin Showed Them How.

John Ristek and Hans Zimmerman, the German fliers who set a new world endurance mark by circling their Junkers airplane over Dusseldorf for sixty-five hours and twenty-six minutes, beating the best previous record by six hours and fifty-two minutes, attribute their success to Chamberlin. Had Chamberlin not made the flight from New York to Germany, they say, they never would have thought of carrying the load of gasoline which made the making of their record possible. It was due to talks with him that they learned how to load a machine with oil and fuel.

But even at that, the two German record-holders, though closely following Chamberlin's fuel plan, went him one better. Before the flight, they scraped off all the heavy metal color with which their airplane was painted, and the weight thus saved enabled them to take on 125 kilograms more than they had planned, which they figured would keep them in the air for four hours more.

So, it seems, that Chamberlin not only established a new long-distance record, but also showed the way to extend the endurance record.

Fines aggregating $1,000 have been imposed against Bert Acosta by the department of commerce for performing stunts over Chicago and Curtis field on Long Island, which is as it should be. The better the aviator, the better he should observe the law. Making an example of Acosta should have a salutary effect on other aviators who are inclined to fly low and do stunts over cities and airports.

Vagrant Verse.

THE QUIET HOUR.

Keep thee, my Sojourner, still resigned and calm. The precious hour of eve was thy desire, And now it falls, with mingled care and balm. Veiling with dusky curtains dome and spire. Fine then the crowd who at the tyrant throne Of lusty pleasure slavish revel hold.

And for his gifts with butter pings alone. Come then apart, thy hand in mine enfold, And view the years, whose heavenly steep, The long-lost years, a peasant drably dressed, And winsome longing bairn of watery deeps;

Then mark the sweet health its cloudy crest, And like the rustic of a rye in drift. Stark the soft footfalls of the coming night!
